(B) Capacity Release Service - Continued

(9) Re-Releases and Recalls of Capacity:

To the extent that any of the capacity is not being used to serve the Customer's needs, the Company shall have the right to recall the capacity to meet the Company's requirements to:

- (a) serve the Customer, or
- (b) serve other Customers during a period an OFO is in effect or to prevent an OFO from being imposed.

The Company's right to recall capacity during the winter and summer season is limited to the daily seasonal quantities stated in (B) (4) (a) and (b).

The Customer shall be compensated at a rate equal to the amount of capacity recalled times the rate paid by the Customer.

Subject to the Company's rights to recall the capacity, the Capacity Release Customer may re-release all or a portion of the capacity to a Replacement Capacity Release Customer who meets all of the requirements to which a Capacity Release Customer is subject. A re-release shall not relieve the Capacity Release Customer of its obligations under the Capacity Release Service Agreement.

The Customer shall promptly notify the Company whenever, and for whatever reason, the Customer designates a new Seller to act on the Customer's behalf.
