- d. The consumer expressly agrees to be solely responsible for the service, maintenance, repair and upkeep of all dual-fuel equipment and all associated control devices. The Company assumes no responsibility for the adequacy of standby facilities and shall not be liable for any loss, damage or expense, direct or indirect, which may be incurred by the customer or others in connection with or as a result of any curtailment or discontinuance of gas service.

The Company neither accepts no assumes any responsibility whatsoever for any malfunction of said equipment or devices, nor for any consumption of gas when the outside temperature falls below the specified transfer temperature. If any control device fails to switch over to the alternate fuel when the outside temperature falls below the specified temperature, the consumer shall immediately switch manually from the use of gas to the alternate fuel.

- e. The consumer agrees to permit access by the Company's employees or representatives, at all times, to the consumer's premises for the purposes of (i) inspection and testing all dual-fuel equipment and associated control devices and (ii) the measurement and verification of dual-fuel consumption.

The consumer agrees that the Company may measure fuel consumption in any reasonable manner, including but not limited to automatic recording devices ("telemetry").

- f. If operation or supply conditions warrant, the Company may designate the "outside temperature" as the temperature measured at The Central Park Observatory for the purpose of requiring the customer to switch to an alternate fuel source.
- g. If the Company declares an emergency, the consumer agrees to immediately manually switch from the use of gas to the alternate fuel upon oral or written request of the Company at any time and the consumer shall not switch back to gas until notified by an authorized representative of the Company.
