MONTHLY METERED TRANSPORTATION (MMT) SERVICE - Continued

c. From November 1 to April 1, subject to Customer's approval, if such released capacity is not fully utilized by the customer for on-system requirements and the Company requires additional upstream capacity to meet system operational needs. Upon recall, the Company shall release to the Customer that portion of the recalled capacity necessary to meet Customer's actual on-system requirements. Company and Customer shall negotiate an appropriate means by which Customer shall be compensated for such recall.

The Company shall have no obligation to recall capacity, even if such capacity is not utilized by the Customer and the Company supplies service under its Standby Sales Service.

Credit received by the Company from the interstate pipeline for such release shall be credited to the gas adjustment as described in General Information Section 19.g. The Customer and the Company may negotiate a different allocation of upstream interstate pipeline transmission capacity upon mutual agreement.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS:

1. The expense of installing facilities necessary to receive and meter gas delivered by or for the account of the Customer shall be borne by the Customer.
2. Deliveries by or for the account of the Customer will be subject to the availability of sufficient pipeline capacity and will be made against line pressure at a maximum pressure to be designated by the Company from time to time in its sole discretion. Gas to be delivered to the Company shall not be compressed except where specifically permitted by the Company.
